8x8 Inc. said Wednesday it has sold a family of U.S. legacy patents to an undisclosed third party for an unspecified amount.

The Sunnyvale-based company (NASDAQ:EGHT) provides cloud communications and computing technologies.

The company has been awarded more than 80 U.S. patents to date.

"We are pleased to report a significant success in monetizing a subset of the company's portfolio of patents," said Bryan Martin, chairman and CEO in a prepared statement.
