VALENCIA - 3D Systems Corp. has named Bob Kayser its vice president of global sales, effective Jan. 19.

Kayser joins 3D Systems after nearly two years at KEMET Electronics, where most recently he was vice president overseeing Asia sales and based in Shanghai.

Prior to KEMET, Kayser spent 15 years at Sealed Air Corp. in a range of management positions in Europe and Asia.

Kayser holds a bachelor's degree in history from Santa Clara University and a master's in business administration from the University of Washington in Seattle. He has also studied in Italy and Finland.

"We are fortunate to have a person of Bob's talents and experience lead our global sales team," said Abe Reichental, president and CEO for 3D Systems. "Bob brings into this position a unique blend of experience having worked both in the high-tech electronics sector and the engineered packaging field."

3D manufacturers systems and materials for rapid prototyping.

Goldberg to head Borax operations

VALENCIA - Gary Goldberg has been named chief executive of global organization for Valencia-based Borax and president of the company's domestic operation.

Goldberg, who will take on his new role Feb. 16, began his career with Rio Tinto, Borax's parent company, in 1981. Most recently, he served as managing director of Coal & Allied Industries Limited in New South Wales, Australia.

Before his appointment as head of Coal & Allied, Goldberg was president and chief executive officer of Kennecott Energy, headquartered in Wyoming. Goldberg also held senior management positions throughout Rio Tinto, including Bingham Canyon mine manager at Kennecott Utah Copper, general manager at Colowyo Coal Co. and mining executive for the London-based Gold and Other Minerals product group.

Goldberg holds a bachelor's degree in mining engineering from the University of Wisconsin-Platteville and a master's in business administration from the University of Utah.

Borax supplies nearly half the global demand for borates. It employs nearly 1,500 people worldwide, including at its Boron mine and Valencia offices, and ships its products to customers in nearly 100 countries.
