OAKBROOK TERRACE, Ill., June 21 /PRNewswire/ -- CIMCO Communications, one of the Midwest's fastest growing integrated communications providers, named Jeff Studzinski business partner manager representative. He joins CIMCO after serving as regional sales manager at Adtran.

Studzinski brings to CIMCO 19 years of experience in sales and management from established companies such as AT&T, MCI, TeleComp Communications and Panduit Corporation. At Adtran, he was responsible for bringing many new major, national accounts to the company and also had primary responsibility for product solutions such as managed integrated access systems, wireless, channel banks, mini-DSLAM and DSL.

"I am extremely pleased to have Jeff join CIMCO. We are confident that his wide telecom experience will greatly accelerate CIMCO's business partner relationships," said Bill Capraro Jr., President and CEO of CIMCO.

As business partner manager representative at CIMCO, Jeff will be responsible for constructing a more developed team of business partners to sell the company's services and be an active member of community and business events to further the distributor channel sales opportunities.

"I welcome this opportunity to be part of CIMCO's strong and knowledgeable team. I look forward to helping CIMCO reach its sales objectives through the business partner program," said Studzinski.

Studzinski, his wife, Cheryl, and their three children: Melissa, Monica and Joshua reside in Tinley Park. Jeff is an active member of his church and is very involved in coaching and local sports activities with his children.
