(NASDAQ(R)), will host its 11th Technology Conference, in association with Morgan Stanley, in London and Frankfurt between 4th and 6th November. Presentations will be made by the senior management of 15 companies, including 9 NASDAQ-100(R) companies and will be video webcast live via <http://investors.nasdaq.com/> from London on Tuesday, 4 November between 0900 - 1745 (GMT) and Wednesday, 5 November, between 0900 - 1300 (GMT).

The companies participating at this NASDAQ Investor Conference are: ADTRAN, Inc. , Check Point Software Technologies Ltd. , Intel Corp. , Hyperion Solutions Corp. , Intersil Holding Corp. , Juniper Networks, Inc. , Level 3 Communications, Inc. , Microchip Technology, Inc. , Microsoft Corp. , Nextel Communications, Inc. , QLogic Corp. , Siebel Systems, Inc. , Sun Microsystems, Inc. , SanDisk Corp. and Zebra Technologies Corp. .

Details of how to access the webcasts live on these dates or afterwards in archived form can be found at NASDAQ's Institutional Investor Center at <http://investors.nasdaq.com/>. The site, which was launched in February 2003, provides the institutional investment community with access to video content and information on NASDAQ-listed companies. Since launch, it has generated approximately 335,000 page views and over two and half million hits, with international institutional visitors accounting for over 70% of those hits. Nadir Latif, Managing Director European Equity Marketing, Morgan Stanley, commented, "The timing of this Conference could not have been better as a sustainable recovery in technology spending finally appears to be in sight following three years of downturn. Morgan Stanley is proud to be associated with this important event in the technology calendar for Europe."

Bruce Aust, Executive Vice President, Corporate Client Group, NASDAQ, commented, "The NASDAQ Institutional Investor programmes provide listed companies with the opportunity to access the international investment community. The programme has been running successfully for over six years and is strongly supported both by our leading companies and the analyst and investment community internationally. Additionally, through new initiatives such as the Institutional Investor Center, NASDAQ provides its companies with higher visibility amongst international investors."
